“ I have just learned of the passing of my English teacher, Dixie Brown. I was a junior at IMHS when Dixie entered our classroom with a flourish, and I believe as a new teacher at our school. I will always remember her enthusiasm, passion for teaching, and interest in her students. She encouraged all of us to share our thoughts in writing, and I learned not to be hesitant in putting down my thoughts on a piece of paper. I have lived away from Iron Mountain since H.S. graduation, but I will always remember Dixie! Thank you for your enduring encouragement.

“ Dixie Brown was my very best high school teacher, but more than that, she allowed me to be a tutor in her special education class when she taught at East Elementary when I was a junior and senior. Her early mentorship helped guide me into a 40 year career in education working with people with disabilities. I believe there are probably more stories like mine in Iron Mountain. That is part of the legacy she left.

“ The Queen of B-9 's influence went well beyond the walls of that classroom in Iron Mountain High School. Dixie Brown taught more than composition, grammar, and literature. Her influence on the lives of her students stays with them wherever they go. Her enthusiasm for life and the way it was to be lived was evident to anyone who knew her.

Dixie was generous of heart and spirit, determined, and willing to put her energies to work for any good cause. Her passion and zest were contagious, and she imbued others to act and share her interests.

We were fortunate to have known Dixie. We are thinking of Jason, Heather, Grant and their families as we remember Dixie.

“ Dear Jason, Heather, Grant and family, Your mom was one of a kind...reader, cook, collector, decorator, gardener, teacher, conversationalist, adventurer, gatherer of friends. But mostly she took pride in the marriage and family she and Dick created. She left her mark. May she Rest In Peace!

“ Sending my deepest sympathy to the family for the loss of your dear mom. Because of her example, I became an English teacher, and every day spent in a classroom, I tried to make her proud! She was the epitome of a friend, mentor, grandmother and mom! She lives on in so very many, whose lives she touched! She and her best friend, Kathy Bunnin are doing lots of catching up right now!
Much love to you all!

“ I am so very sorry for your loss. I was a student of your mothers when I went to IMHS from 1982 to 1986. We were friends on Facebook for many years. She will be dearly missed by the students that she taught.
