“ For many years my grandmother's family, the Hagglund's in Vasa area in Finland has been wondering what happened to the siblings who chose to emigrate around 1900, mainly to Michigan and Minnesota. After some searching on Ancestry I finally found information about Sofia Ahlstrand, Albert's grandmother, one of the Hagglund siblings.

It was a great moment to see the place in Aurora where she had lived as a widow for 25 years. She must have been a strong woman and so was surely her grandson Albert who was fighting for a long time against cancer, but finally had to give up.

Our thoughts are with Albert's family and relatives now, especially with his son Jesse.

“ Iv'e known Albert for almost 50 years and have had the opportunity to spend more time with him in the past 6 months that all previous years combined. It was a task I enjoyed and was glad to get to know him better. Al fought the good fight against an aggressive brain cancer and it was sad to see him finally lose the battle to this disease. Rest in peace friend, free from pain. May God bless. - Dale Mahal
