“ Hello Janel,
I was so sorry to read of your daughters passing. (I had done an ancestor test, and saw your name in my results. It told of Alyssa's passing)
What a tragic loss you must feel, even down to this day. It's an aching pain that never leaves your heart. I am so sorry we have been out of touch.
I would love to hear from you. Please feel free to contact me.

“ Dearest Baby Girl,
It doesn't seem like it has been almost six years since you left us, Not a day goes by that I don't think of you, and how much I miss you and love you.. and how I wonder what your plans would be today, as you recieved your diploma, what life still had yet in store for you.. What you would have looked like on your prom day, gorgeous I know as you were the most beautiful little girl that I have ever seen.. Those curls of yours and that smile... I miss you soo much, and wish my little girl would have gotten the chance to meet you, I know she would have loved and adored you.. Just as we all did and still do.. Not a Holiday goes by or day that we don't share stories about you, Remember grandmas cat louie and how you loved that thing, and would carry it around with you everywhere.. And How wonderful of a little but big sister you were to Danny.. And your parents you were the pride and joy and light of their life.. And you still are.... I love you lu...

“ Dear Alyssa,

Well Hun its 2011, and we are getting closer to graduation. Each day we get closer to graduation I think about you more and more and how much we all miss you. I never got to properly say goodbye because we were all at that age where we didn't understand death.

I miss you so much Alyssa and I know you will be with us on graduation day when we walk across that gym floor to recieve our diplomas.

*Love you

“ Dear Alyssa: There are so many fond memories with you in them. Halloween, in Mrs. G's class. We took that picture that I still can't find. You were an Angel and I was the Devil (we were faced back to back with two guns shaped by our hands.) God can only tell you how much I miss you, and think about you. Even to this day your on my mind. After you passed, you left me a gift. I know it was you. You brought Amanda and I together. The dreams you were in, always seem to draw attention to Amanda. I thank you. She is a good friend to this day and I know that's what you wanted. I love you girl! I use to be jealous of you and your colorful room. Your Neato Trampoline. We always use to play Beanie Babies on it :) You were the friend who got me into watching scary ghost stories at night on T.V. I still do that to this day. Remember when we stuffed our shirts with Tissue? Hehe. We ran down the hallway past your mom and giggled like mad. You were so gorgeous even then. Now, Your so beautiful that my eyes can't see you. What about that time when we went to river dance? And saw those magnificent dancers! Then, we went to olive garden and I think you ordered Macaroni. You loved horses, I never got the chance to give you a card I drew of what I thought was a great looking horse. Oh well, I guess it's the thought that counts. It's been five years. Feels like forever, I wonder what you would have done with your life. I know your somewhere beyond the beauty of imagination. Your somewhere loved by God, loved by us. I'll see you some day. Who knows. death could be tomorrow for anyone. It seems to me, people always fear death because we don't know what it is. I know that death is just another way of being born into something greater. You comforted me in my dreams after you passed. I know your doing well, I know your so much more aware than any of us here in this world. Alyssa I miss you, I want to do something for you. I'm keeping you in my prayers, and I've never forgotten. Have you met my brother? I'm sure he would love another little sister. I'm glad you met your brother too. Remember my birthday party!? When Amy kept sucking in air with her booty then continuing to toot it out. And You and her passed gas on me in order to wake me up! I was so mad. Haha, I have a hard time referring to you in the past tenths. Nothing died but your material body. Your still vibrant, alive, and spirited in the heavens. All your body ever was is a temple your the soul. You had a beautiful temple, and for five years you've been a gorgeous angel, simply too wonderful for anyone to see. I hope one day too see you again. I love you! You are simply wonderful. Ms. Alyssa Sagola! (inside joke from the party) Simply, amazing.

“ My family feels blessed to have known Alyssa, she was our daughter Amanda's best friend and had become part of our family. We will miss her laughter, smile and her stories of times her and Amanda spent together. Alyssa was a very generous and loving person. We are very grateful for just having an opportunity to know what a special person she was. We are thinking of and praying for your family daily.

“ Alyssa was my closest friend out of all my friends. I went on a lot of trips with her. I was all way at her house all mosed every weekend. When I first came to school no one would even talk to me butt Alyssa almosed every one picked on me and she would stick up for me. I remember when I was very sick and Alyssa was not at school she was gone the same day I was then I found out she had a tomor. Then nothing was the same we became very close fiends. My prays are with the Stodola family forever.

“ My cousin Alyssa was the most beautiful little girl that I knew, outside and inside. She was kind, giving, and I was so proud to be her cousin. I loved taking her "mimmin" and feel so lucky that I got to help take care of her when she was born. She will always be remembered in my heart and soul in the most special way and will be missed dearly by me and my other members of my family that loved her so much. Aunt Nell, Uncle Bill, and Dan- my thoughts are with you now and in the time to come. Em

“ Alyssa was the sweetest little girl that I knew. She was always so giving. She would give you anything that was hers, if it would make you happy. She was a very caring sister to her big brother Dan. Her patience and love for him was never ending. I enjoyed playing barbies with her. I had fun watching scary movies, and going for long walks. When I was with her, I forgot that I was an adult. Bill, Janel and Dan my thoughts and prayers are with you daily. May God give you the strength to get through this difficult time.
We Love You Guys, Sal
