“ To my friend Bobbie,
Some might find this strange..writing to a friend who has been called to our eternal home with God.
I find comfort, knowing you no longer suffer earthly ills, sorrow, pain.
We knew each other from early childhood as neighbors and friends...I see us playing in your yard or ours...coloring books, cutting out paper dolls and dressing them...I see us having "Auntie's"homemade bread and jam or jelly...and "uncle Bitto" (you couldn't say the L's)I thought that was his name so called him that too.!

I see that wonderful magic recliner/glider chair he sat in...Such wonderful innocent years.

You were so doted on by your loving mother, Auntie and Uncle and all the relatives that lived nearby....I have to tell you..I envied you having so many people to love you...we never knew we had any relatives..so I "adopted"yours.

We kept our friendship through our school years , lost track for awhile but renewed with letters, cards and visits with you and Ron in Florida

Now you are reunited with those who went before you, knowing you haven't left your children... You live on through your love...

I don't say "Goodbye" my friend..I say "Til we meet again"
