“ I worked many years side by side with my friend Clayton, He was very helpful on the job showing and directing me at my new unfamiliar job, I learned a lot from him.
we enjoyed the friendly card games and the friendly pranks we pulled on each other, like the time he hang a half eaten smoked chub on a machine light fixture stinking up the place and no one knew where the odor was coming from, The bowling league at the Surf Bowl after work from one o'clock in the morning until 3-30 AM.
We were not happy when he told us that he was changing job and would move away, we enjoyed his yearly visits, I did not have an occasion to visit him out west, but he kept in touch visiting every year.
Clayton my friend may You Rest in Peace.
