“ My first memory of Greg is seeing him after he came back from South Korea. Suddenly he had a beard and let his hair grow long. I was only seven or eight at the time and I remember wondering what happened in the war that made you grow your hair long and put a huge hookah in the middle of your living room! Greg also gave me my very first very very fast ride in a "hot-rod". I think it was a dodge Charger, and it had really cool hub caps. I was so excited to get to ride in his fancy new car, but once he got going it scared the life out of me! Then there was the time he rode home on his motorcycle from a camping trip with us without his shoes on! What I remember most about Greg is that he had the gentlest and kindest heart of any true blooded rascal I have ever know. Greg, I am glad that you were around when I was growing up, and that I had the chance to know you. You will be missed so very much by all who knew you.
