“ George and Heather, I am so sorry for the loss of your wife/mother. I know she leaves a hole in your heart and hopefully, you will find comfort in all the memories you have of her. Lucy often sent me numerous recipes in messenger, sometimes 4 or 5 in a row. I was tickled when I shared this with George and he laughed and said, "the funny thing is, Lucy didn't cook". I could feel Lucy's humor through George's comment. I know she had to be an incredible woman because she was married to my boss whom I have a very special place in my heart, and my professional relationship with him made him a #1 favorite boss. He often talked about Lucy, so much, it felt like she was always near or at the office. I loved his stories of her and of the adventures they shared. George put Lucy first, just as Lucy put George first. Together they were unique and inseparable, except when George went to hunting camp. I felt I knew Lucy through George's eyes, and stories. I did over the past years get the opportunity to be her friend through facebook and she wrote to me often and sent me silly things that showed her sense of humor. I will miss her post, hello's, and all those recipes. God gained a beautiful angel when she departed from this world. Hugs to her family as they grieve her absence, and know, that I will be thinking of you boss as you transition into unfamiliar territory without your soulmate.
