“ We met Rudy during the burial of his wife Cecile. From that first meeting we knew we had a friend. Rudy was a person you enjoyed having around because he always had such interesting things to say. We always made time for him. He was one of the most honest caring persons we have ever known. He always had time to help people and he was never bothered by people who needed his help. We found him to be a man of integrity and courage, a real inspiration to us, as well as a good friend for the short time that we had the honor to know him. We will miss him a lot, especially his way of turning a gloomy day into something special. Rudy was a very special man, and we thank God that he let us have the time that we had with him.
