“ I'll never forget the trip north I made to visit Sherman and Mary. We had a marvelous time at their lake house. During the day, we found the place where the cabin stood where Sherman was born. A highlight was getting re-acquainted with Lawrence kin in Powers, Mich. Most of all, I remember Sherman's laugh and wit, and how well Mary and Sherman adored each other.

To Mary and the extended family, the miles may separate us but several of your relatives are with you in thought and prayer. This is a week of so many changes. It is my sincere prayer that you all will find comfort in knowing that Sherman saw the face of the Risen Lord on Tuesday.
