“ I've known Travis ever since he came to work at Wal-Mart. I worked alongside him for 5-6 years and even had the pleasure of leading him the last few years. Travis was a unique soul and his brand of humor was truly a delight. After Travis got to know you there isn't anything he wouldn't try to help you with given the chance.

His baking was often a favorite around the office. I predict we all lose 5 lbs from not having a constant supply of brownies and cookies. Oh and we'll miss the "Cheese-Head" hat too! And the Packers are doing well too this year so i know he'd have worn it.

More personally Travis helped me a lot with my son. My son was born with some special needs and Travis helped in various ways with advice to help me relate to my son and understand why he is doing certain things. My son is now 13 and i know i'll miss Travis's advice in the next few years. I often consulted him when i got frustrated and he always had something that helped me. Travis's professional success has given me a lot of hope for my own son.

They broke the mold after this guy for sure. He was able to enrich all our lives and make us all better. In the end that is how, i think, we'd all hope to be remembered; for having a positive impact on those that knew us. Well Travis, "Job well done and now go rest in peace and may the force be with you!"

“ I was Travis' 2nd grade teacher at East Elementary School. I remember him very well as an extremely creative boy with lots of blonde hair. I only taught two years before staying home to raise my own children but I have never forgotten Travis. One day, he missed the bus and I was able to give him a ride home. The next day, I received a thank you note written half by Travis and half by and Lucille. I still have that note. I will keep Travis and his family in my prayers!

There are no words that can express the shock and grief of the sudden loss of such a fine young person. Travis spent many hours caring for his animal friends at the humane society and it speaks to his character that he would prefer a donation to help them one more time on his behalf in lieu of flowers. My heart goes out to Lucy, George and Heather for their tragic loss.

“I was a classmate of Travis's and lived pretty close to him, so we would take the same route to school. He would always run past me, and yell hello from across the street. He had such a funny sense of humor, when you got him laughing, he was really funny. And boy could he DRAW! He had the most articulate drawings! I hadn't seen him in years, but I could not believe it when I heard the news. I was hoping to see him at the class reunion and catch up. My sincere condolences go out to his family. Losing Travis is like losing a piece of childhood.”

“ I have loving memories of Travis from the time he was 6 weeks old and visiting us. A beautiful blond little boy with so much energy as he grew. He loved video games and his cousins like to play games with him. Even though I have not seen Travis in several years he was never far from my mind. Facebook helped keep us connected. My heart breaks for such a young man to lose his life. Words alone cannot express how sorry I am for George, Lucy and Heather. I love you and pray for some peace for each of you as you mourn the loss of son and brother.
